
After leaving high school in the 1940s to serve in the military during World War II, Harold Railing was finally awarded his high school diploma during a ceremony at Camas High School in 2003.